SUMMARY

- The Council actively encourages communities in the District to develop community plans and provides support in a number of ways to ensure that the plans are robust and effective. This is an example of the type of activity that the Localism Act is designed to encourage.
- One of the communities currently undertaking a community plan has requested financial assistance from the Council to progress and complete its work. It is recommended that support totalling £500 is awarded to the community in question.
- Community planning is one of the items set out in the Portfolio Plans for 2015/16 to help deliver the Active Communities Priority Outcome.

PROPOSED DECISION

That £500 is awarded to Cheriton Parish Council towards the cost of a parish plan.

REASON FOR THE PROPOSED DECISION AND OTHER ALTERNATIVE OPTIONS CONSIDERED AND REJECTED

Background

For a number of years now the Council has actively encouraged local communities to produce community plans that involve large numbers of residents and inform policy development, service delivery and planning decisions in their areas. The Localism Act, which received Royal Assent on 15 November 2011, means that community-led initiatives of this nature are now commonplace and effective in influencing service delivery.

There are three main categories of community plan:

- Parish Plans, which address a broad spectrum of social, environmental and economic issues and identify a series of key actions or projects to enhance the quality of life.
- Village Design Statements (VDS), which are advisory documents setting out clear and simple guidance for the design of all development in a village, based on its local character and distinctiveness.
- Neighbourhood Plans, which are enshrined in the Localism Act and must be in general conformity with strategic policies in the development plan for the local area (i.e. core strategy policies). They will allow local communities to draw up their own development plans for the local area and, subject to an independent check and approval of local people through a referendum, allow communities to specify where they want development to take place. They cannot, however, be used to block development where the local plan requires growth.

The Council has a key leadership role in supporting and encouraging communities to develop robust and effective plans. This is achieved in a number of ways including officer time, provision of information such as maps or statistical data, and direct financial support.

Community planning helps to achieve the Active Communities objectives set out in the Winchester District Community Strategy.

Assistance requested

A request has been received from residents in Cheriton for financial support with the parish plan that they are undertaking.

Cheriton Parish Council has committed to producing a parish plan and a small group of residents has been meeting for some time to undertake the work. To date this has involved initial consultation and evidence gathering, but the sum of £500 has been requested to support the costs associated with further engagement with residents and the production of the plan.

Officers have liaised with residents and parish councillors from Cheriton during the early stages of the process and are satisfied that the work so far has been transparent and participative. Discussion has also taken place with officers from South Downs National Park Authority. The resulting document will provide the Council and other service providers with valuable evidence of local need and opinion.

Without the requested assistance, the publication of the plans may be delayed, or alternatively may be completed but to a lesser standard.

RESOURCE IMPLICATIONS:

Traditionally up to £500 has been contributed towards the cost of developing and publishing a community plan.

A small budget of £5,000 exists to support and enable community planning activity and a total of £1,500 has been allocated from this budget to date in 2015/16 so the recommended total of £500 can be met in full from this budget.

There will be local contributions towards the cost of this initiative. Local people and organisations will contribute significant amounts of voluntary time and may also contribute through financial assistance and/or free use of meeting rooms and other facilities.

CONSULTATION UNDERTAKEN ON THE PROPOSED DECISION

The participative nature of community plans means that a significant proportion of residents in the respective parishes have (or will) be actively consulted during the process of producing the documents.
