

SPORT & LEISURE PARK WINCHESTER

Welcome

River Park Leisure Centre is now more than 40 years old and its ability to meet the needs of a growing population in Winchester is limited. The City Council has looked at various options for replacing or refurbishing it and has commissioned Stride Treglown and LA Architects to test the various options.

The Council are working closely with the University of Winchester, the Pinder Trust and Hampshire County Council to deliver a new Sport & Leisure Park for Winchester.

The Council recently appointed architects to develop the vision for the whole Bar End site, which will include detailed proposals for a new building as well as an Urban Design Framework that will set the design parameters for everything else that may happen on the rest of the site.

We are seeking your views on what is important to you for the whole site. Establishing the Urban Design Framework is the primary concern at this stage and this is primarily what we're asking your views on today. We would like to know how you feel the new Sport & Leisure Park should fit in with the existing residential and employment uses around Bar End. A number of prompts are identified on the image below to help understand the types of issues we're seeking to address as part of the Urban Design Framework.

We will then feed this information back into the design process to ensure that this new Sport & Leisure Park will deliver a meaningful community resource. There will be further public consultation sessions after the Urban Design Framework has been drafted and to present emerging concepts for the Park and the Sports & Leisure Centre.
